

ACCEPTABLE CONTINUING EDUCATION PROVIDERS

Continuing education courses offered by the following providers are generally accepted by the Board:

Groups--

Local, state, and national professional and technical societies (such as AIA, NSPE, ASCE, etc.)

National regulatory councils (NCARB, NCEES, CLARB, and NCIDQ)

Government agencies

Colleges and universities

Specific Providers--

Design Arts Seminars, Tallahassee, FL

Lorman Education Services, Eau Claire, WI

PDHcenter.com/PDHonline.org

Professional Development Options, Rock Hill, SC

Professional Development Seminars, Memphis, TN

RedVector.com

Steensland Center for Professional Development, Dothan, AL

NOTE: The Board does not pre-approve continuing education courses or providers. Although courses offered by the above providers are generally acceptable, it is still the registrant's responsibility to determine if specific courses meet the criteria of the rules. Registrants are not required to choose activities offered by the above providers and are free to earn hours through other providers, provided that those activities meet Tennessee's requirements. All courses claimed for continuing education credit must be relevant to the practice of architecture, engineering, landscape architecture, or interior design.

Providers not included on the above list may submit course information for the Board's review, and, if deemed appropriate, may then be added to the list of acceptable providers.
